

Tributes (2/18/17)

Recently, the jazz world lost two beloved figures: Barbara Carroll and Al Jarreau. John and Jessica pay tribute to them by playing their records and replaying a song that Barbara performed live on Radio Deluxe several years ago. This week also marks the second anniversary of the passing of another of John and Jessica's favorites: jazz great Clark Terry. That prompted John to tell stories about working with the famous trumpeter and to play some of his favorite recordings of him.

Freddy Cole - I Saw Stars (This and That)
Phil Woods - Walkin' Shoes (Groovin' to Marty Paich)
